THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY

NOVICE G. FAWCETT, President

COLUMBUS 10

COMMITTEE ON INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

May 8, 1959

Mr. Allen Dulles, Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Dulles:

The Ohio State University presents annually a Summer Program on international affairs, one of the most important of our enterprises in the social sciences. Each Summer Program is focused on a particular area or region. Previous Programs have dealt with the Far East, the Middle East, Latin America and Africa and we are concentrating on the Soviet Union for the Summer of 1959. In previous Programs we have offered five or six academic courses on the foreign area, and have arranged a series of public lectures, art exhibits, film showings, and other events. The enclosed brochure will give you an idea of some of our plans for the Summer Program on the Soviet Union. Since the Programs are attended by regular students, high school and college teachers, journalists and other citizens of Ohio and the Mid-West, we feel the Programs make a modest contribution to American understanding of international problems.

It is in connection with our public lecture series which we regard as a particularly significant feature of our Summer Programs that I write to you. I am extending an invitation to you to participate in our Summer Program on the Soviet Union and to deliver one of the public lectures. We are able to offer you an honorarium of $500.00 and to provide accommodations for you while you are here; travel expenses, however, would be borne by you.

The precise subject of your address must, of course, be of your own choosing. Perhaps you have an address in your files, other than the widely publicized New Orleans speech, which could easily be adapted for this purpose. It may be helpful in selecting a subject for you to know that we have already arranged for the following public lectures: Hanson Baldwin, a comparison of the Soviet and American military positions; Professor John Turkevich, on Soviet Science; Professor Gleb Struve, on Pasternak and Dr. Zhivago.

In terms of our own plans, the best possible dates for an address by you would be July 2, 9, or 16. If these dates are inconvenient for any reason, we would be glad to try to arrange your address for some other date satisfactory to you. The lectures are scheduled for 8:00 P.M. in an air-conditioned auditorium on the campus with a seating capacity of 500. Admission to them is free and they are attended by students, university faculty and residents of Columbus and vicinity.

I am hopeful that you will find it possible to accept this invitation. As we need to complete our plans for the Summer Program on the Soviet Union almost immediately, I should very much appreciate a reply from you by telephone or by telegram.

Sincerely yours,

Charles Morley

Director, Summer Program

SUMMER PROGRAM ON THE SOVIET UNION

at The Ohio State University

JUNE 22 TO JULY 24, 1959

SCHOLARSHIPS

A significant number of scholarships are available. These fall into two categories:—$150 and university fees in the case of undergraduates with good scholastic records and an interest in the Russian field, and $250 and university fees in the case of graduate students. Particular attention in the latter case will be given applicants specializing in the Social Sciences and International Relations. Additional grants partially to defray travel expenses may be made in the case of selected graduate students coming from a considerable distance. Applications must reach the Director, Summer Program on the Soviet Union by April 15, 1959.

FACULTY

M. V. CONDOIDE, PH.D., Associate Professor of Business Research and Economics. Specialist on Soviet trade and finance. Author of books and articles on the Soviet economic system.

CHARLES MORLEY, PH.D., Professor of History. Specialist in Russian and Polish history. Author and editor of books and articles on Eastern Europe.

LOUIS NEMZER, PH.D., Associate Professor of Political Science. Formerly with the U.S. Department of State; author of articles on Soviet domestic politics and propaganda.

GLEB STRUVE, B.A. (Oxon.), Professor of Slavic Languages and Literatures at the University of California, Berkeley. Specialist in modern Russian and Soviet literature. Author of Soviet Russian Literature, 1917-1950, and other books and articles.

JACK R. VILLMOW, PH.D., Assistant Professor of Geography. Specialist in Soviet and European Geography; research and travel in Eastern Europe. Author of articles on Physical Geography.

SPECIAL FEATURES

Lectures by distinguished visiting scholars and recognized authorities, motion pictures, exhibitions of art, conferences and informal social meetings will supplement the formal academic program.

WHO MAY ATTEND

Anyone registered for the first term of the Summer Quarter, either as a student or auditor, may enroll in the Program. The special features are open to all and the public is invited to attend.

FEES

University fees for the first term of the Summer Quarter (the duration of the Program) are $45; non-residents of Ohio pay an additional $63; and those entering the University for the first time must pay a matriculation fee of $15. Information about the cost of living in University dormitories and off-campus facilities may be obtained from the Dean of Men or Dean of Women.

ENROLLMENT PROCEDURE

Enrollment in The Summer Program involves two separate processes: 1) admission to the University and 2) approval of enrollment by the Director of the Summer Program. The requirements for admission to the Summer Quarter are the same as those for regular sessions. Attention is called, however, to the possibility of qualifying as a special student, transient student or auditor without conforming to all the formalities of regular admission. For further information, consult the Summer Quarter Bulletin, which may be obtained from The Entrance Board, The Ohio State University, Columbus (10), Ohio. Applications for admission should be submitted directly to The Entrance Board; information concerning enrollment procedures, scholarships and other matters concerning The Summer Program may be obtained from The Summer Program on the Soviet Union, 211 University Hall, The Ohio State University, Columbus (10), Ohio.
